

Chiba University Academic Resource Collections Terms and Conditions

1. Copyrights

- Chiba University Academic Resource Collections (hereinafter, the Collections) include digital content protected by the Copyright Act. As a rule, these copyright belong to third parties having legitimate rights, such as the authors of the original materials.
- The copyright of the web pages of the Collections and the databases contained in the Collections belong to National University Corporation Chiba University.

2. Available Use

- When using (reproducing, distributing, transmitting, transferring, or adapting) digital content contained in the Collections as works, for content for which individual Creative Commons licenses or the like are specified, follow the terms of use.
- Among digital content of the Collections, regarding content marked "No Copyright – Contractual Restrictions" as defined in the Rights Statements (indicated for content for which the copyright protection period has expired), you can use it without special procedures by following these guidelines.

- ① Indicate that the digital content is from Chiba University Libraries.
- ② If the content is modified when used, indicate that the original materials have been modified.

*In addition, if you have created products (books, papers, websites, etc.) using content posted in the Collections, please inform us via "Contact" below.

3. Rights Other Than Copyright

- Content in the Collections may be protected based on legal regulations other than the Copyright Act, such as the Trademark Act and the Design Act.
- When using content, you shall consider the author's moral rights, privacy, and other human rights.

4. Disclaimer

- National University Corporation Chiba University assumes no responsibility for any actions users take by using content from our website or the Collections. In addition, National University Corporation Chiba University cannot assume any responsibility for damage resulting from your use of content, or from its unavailability.

5. Contact

- For inquiries about the Collections, contact:

Chiba University Library User Support Planning Division (Repository)

1-33, Yayoi-cho, Inage-ku, Chiba-shi 263-8522 Japan    e-mail: ir@office.chiba-u.jp